

One day
Jenny the Bee
was flying along.

On her trip,
she heard some music in the distance.

As she flew
toward the music,
it grew louder and LOWER until ...

she saw the forest
band playing away.

Jenny wished that she could join in but she just could not make a sound
like the other animals.

(("Ribbit"))

she couldn't croak like a frog

or sing like a bird

or thump like a rabbit.

So Jenny
turned to fly away.

But as she flapped her tiny wings, all the other animals looked up at the beautiful buzzing she made.

"Would you like to join us?" asked
the bird.

"I'd love to," said Jenny

And so they played late into the night,

making beautiful music
together.
